DEDICATION

Your hard working, easy - going attitude, combined with a genuine concern for people, has endeared you to the hearts of us students.

You've spent your time guiding students through the maze of classes and have aided many in choices for their future.

Even so, you find time in your busy schedule to participate in one of your many interests; a good game of football!

It is for these qualities that we sincerely dedicate the 1985 Delphian to you, Mr. Loomer.

REGISTRATION

Debbie and Diane harass the Music Man, Mr. Manous.

"Now tell me what I'm signing."

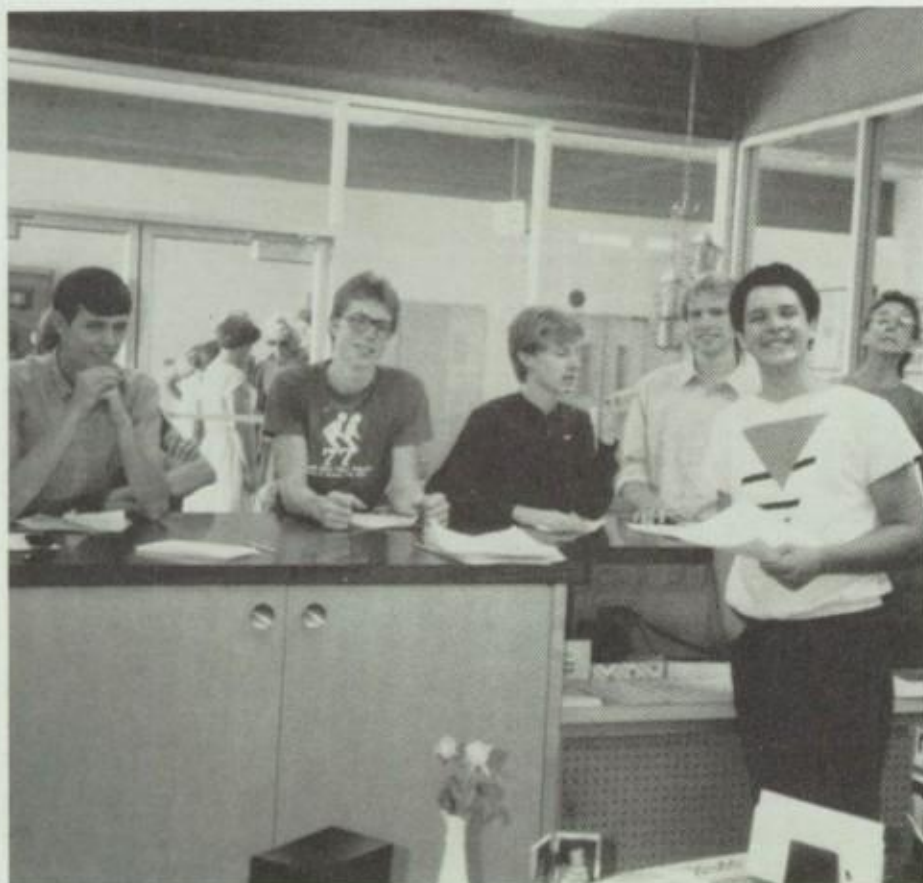

"Something fishy is going on."

Several freshmen dreadfully await their turn.

Long lines disgust Darren.

WWVAs best smiles.

Being aware, Lora smiles for the camera.

"Psst. Guys, someone's looking."

The halls of WWVA hummed something like the New York Stock Exchange as 250 students frantically placed their bids for classes, lockers, and parking spaces. Yes, another school year had begun and the rush was on.

Amidst all the high tech. rumblings and decisions, students somehow found the time to greet each other with a handshake and a warm hug. Old friends returned and new faces appeared from everywhere.

The returning students "grabbed the bull by the horns" while the freshmen and other new students were "chased by the bear." At the close of the day's excitement 250 students had registered with others straggling in later.

WWVA's future heroes.

"Jolene, it's so nice to see you again!"

If you add new students, old friends, the faculty, root beer floats, watermelon, class yells, and several hundred tight-squeezing right hands, you will undoubtedly end up with a successful Handshake. Which is just what first semester ASB president, Lynette Titus, and Co. did.

Faculty and students lined up outside in front of the gym and the much-anticipated event began. The Handshake proved to be quite tiring on the hand. It was a time for new students to meet the WWVA regulars, last years WWVAites to put names to the many new faces, and for everyone to meet the warm and friendly principal, Mr. Hurlbert, and all the other new faculty.

Once the shaking was over, everyone moved into the gym for the activities that followed. After the class yells, students and faculty, alike, went home cheerful and excited about the new year.

Two very sharp-dressed men ... (boys).

"Look Linda, he's such a babe!"

HANDSHAKE

"We here at WWVA don't discriminate on basis of race, sex, or I.Q. level."

A bewildered Tim listens carefully to Joanna's indepth account of the summer's activities.

Mrs. Gardner puts an end to a post-summer itch as Mr. Smith, Mr. Manous, and Mr. Hurlbert brace themselves for the coming crowd.

"Wow Nancy, you never told me you did that this summer!"

"Well, I've seen alot of possibilities already."

ASB PICNIC

"Hey look Greg, that one grass blade is purple."

"We're going to make it, w're going to make it!"

... it's Jungle Jim!

"If this is what they do in academy, we're staying!"

The Senior strain.

"Crandall, I thought you said we'd be faster with bare feet."

Dizziness is a virtue.

"I can feel the vibes, Lynda."

It's a picnic! Yes indeed, and an ASB one at that! The picnic took place on Tuesday, September 25, at Lions Park under overcast skies. After a brief worship led by the youth pastor, John Cress, the games commenced. The Freshmen managed to fit 1/3 of their class into a hoola-hoop, with a total of 24! The Seniors dominated most of the games including a sizzling victory in the obstacle course.

The noon meal was shamburgers. Unfortunately much of the student body could not afford this kind of delicacy and so headed for Dairy Queen, Pizza Hut or Taco Time.

A four team-grade-goal soccer game finished off the day's organized activities. The final highlight was when Rodney Colburn, a somewhat greenhorn professor, was thrust into the pond by some ornery students (The Rod Squad).

Runners prepare to start the painful but rewarding 24 hr. relay.

Craig is desperately scanning the track for girls, while Cindy has just spotted a roving male.

On a cold September Saturday night, 80 WWVAites gathered to participate in WWVA's fourth annual 24-hour Relay.

On September 30, once we got the lights to function properly, the day-long struggle began. By the end of the run, 968 hard earned miles had been made by the four classes. The Freshmen had two teams that totaled 204 miles, the second best class for total milage. The Sophomores had one team running, which ended up being the second best team with 160 miles. The Juniors totaled 188 miles between their two teams. But the Seniors stole the show. They had three teams (including the #1 team with 187 miles) that equaled a grand total of 416 miles.

Even with all the sore muscles and lost sleep, the relay proved to be a fun event for all those who participated.

Michelle pounds out another mile, dreaming of a hot shower.

Some at the 24 hr. relay chose to study the sky for migrating birds while others checked out the latest grass fungi.

24-HOUR RELAY

Julie and a classmate run together for companionship and also safety from the boogie man on the far side of the track.

Lynette and Nancy pose for a thrilling action photograph.

Lynette instructs Joanie on "The Essence of Running"

Students await their turn at running another "killer mile".

A group of students sneer cruelly as back spasms strike another unlucky runner.

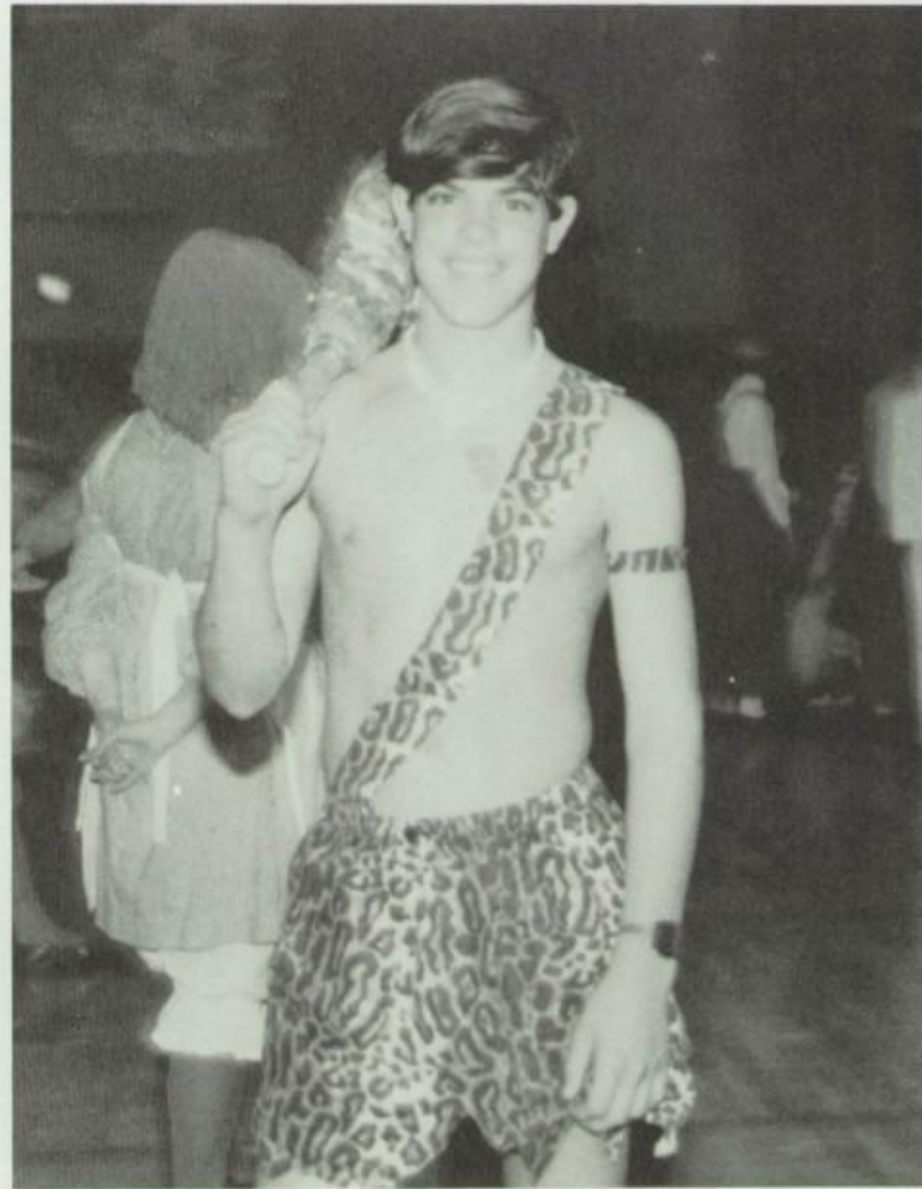

I hear these pumpkins give off some pretty good nectar!

Mr. and Mrs. Reagan relaxing during a party at "the Ranch".

A masquerade party! That's what the theme of this year's Fall Festival was. On one cold autumn evening, the Youth Center found itself full of creatures, objects, and people having fun. At the party there was everything from Draculas to pickles, doctors to bumble bees, and smurfs to Grim Reapers. After playing some games, eating some snacks, and giving out some prizes for the best costumes, everyone settled down for a movie. The Fall Festival proved to be an entertaining and worthwhile event for all those who participated.

Still hunting for Jane, Tarzan?

Dad always said eating lots of lentil's would put hair on my chest.

FALL FESTIVAL

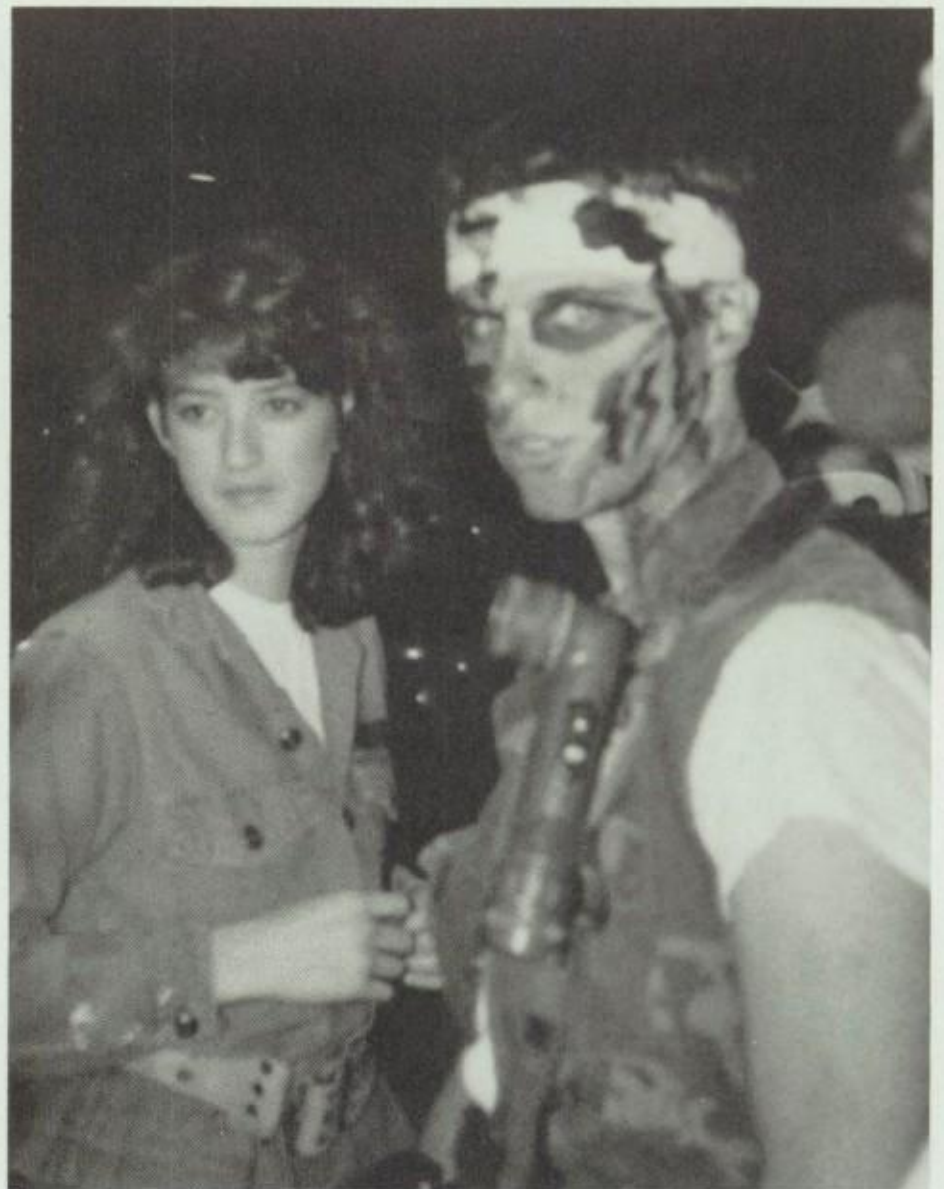

"Have you ever tried kissing through straws?"

Another victim for the Count.

"Hey Janet, check out that Freshman dressed as a watermelon rind."

Nobody messes with Lonnie.

CHRISTMAS BANQUET

Troy and Karina can hardly wait for the film to start.

Cindi Roth and her mother show how happy they are to have planned a successful banquet.

The Christmas Banquet this year was a great success both as an ASB function and for a number of young couples with rosy cheeks, sparkly eyes, and hopeful dreams. Pictures were taken near the fireplace, where the stockings were indeed hung with care. Entertainment for this special occasion was sparked by the WWVA choir and brass quartet. The highlight of the night was when Robert Neves sang "Hello" by Lionel Richie. The movie "Victory" was interrupted once for homemade candy. It was the best item on the well planned banquet agenda. Thank you Cindi Roth for doing such a good job on this year's Fall Banquet.

Some freshman and sophomore girls get together to smile for Mr. Colburn, the camera man.

Jackie, back for THIRDS?!?

WOW! This must be a brand new couple.

After a long pose, Jolene and Laura are sure that their smiles are frozen on their faces.

Kim and Jim smile awhile.

This banquet also had its share of romantic young couples, one of which is pictured here.

YOUTH CONGRESS

Nancy shows off her newly found friend.

Some members show how happy they are to be back home.

When ten students from WWVA left for Mexico City on December 13, they didn't know what to expect. Everyone did many things. They toured Mexico City, spent Sabbath at Chapultepec Park, went to the Pyramids and traveled to Taxco, the silver capital of the world. On December 18 the meetings of the Pan American Youth Congress started with a presentation of representatives from the different countries. There were sermons and special activities during the week and the Congress was finished off by having a Christmas for needy families. When it was time to go home everyone was happy but they will never forget their experience and wonderful time in Mexico City.

This cathedral was one of the many tourist sites that the group went while not attending meetings.

Julie realizes she should have taken the bus home.

Theresa gives visual aids while telling how tall the building is.

Good things come to those who wait.

"Come and get it!"

"Seriously though Rod, this food rivals the college's."

HOT LUNCH

"Yes pickles, lots of pickles."

Moneychanger.

Burritos! Haystacks! Pasta! Vegeburgers! Salads! Hoagies! Potatoes! The delicacies, in addition to many, many others, were served up in the multi-purpose room during WWVA's first year of daily hot lunches. Each lunch included a main dish, a side dish, usually some vegetables or a salad bar, and a small dessert. The food was prepared by ARA Food Services, who makes the food for WWC also. The hot lunch program went very well and is appreciated by the students and their mothers.

FOOD FAIR

Julie says "Pay or else", while Laura spots some "new blood".

This year's Food Fair was held on November 18. Many people got involved to make this event a success.

The Freshmen had a booth where they sold homemade pies. The Sophomores had an elephant ear booth. The Juniors sold yogurt in their booth and the Seniors sold corndogs.

There were many foreign food booths and many of the Faculty helped out. The ski club, the ASB, and Rogers and Stateline schools also had their own booths. The Food Fair is a lot of work but is something that everyone looks forward to every year.

Now we know what our policemen are doing on Sunday nights!

Sherri is working on her meditation exercises while Lisa practices her unique lip stretching warm-ups.

Brenda Werner and her mother will dream about elephant ears for days to come.

Lynette Titus and Mr. Loomer madly make pizzas to raise money for the ASB.

Crandall steels himself for another lap on the petrifying "scary-go-round".

Mrs. Surdal looks on and wonders what this world has come to.

Showing early signs of exhaustion, Mindy keeps working.

1984 ELECTION

The primitive polls "out west" really baffled Mr. Boyer.

Lonnie and Lowell prove that they belong in Minnesota.

The general elections this year inevitably found their way into WWVA. Both history classes took part in this political rally by making posters, campaign signs, and having debates for chapel. Finally the big day arrived; the day WWVA went to the polls. Students registered, and voted in the infamous "T". The Republican landslide wasn't surprising, although Democrats put up a good fight. As part of their history grade, those who were 18 were given a free trip to the "real" polls to vote. It was fun and we learned a lot by getting involved in the 1984 election.

Paul Grable seems delighted after peeking at Linda's "top secret" ballot.

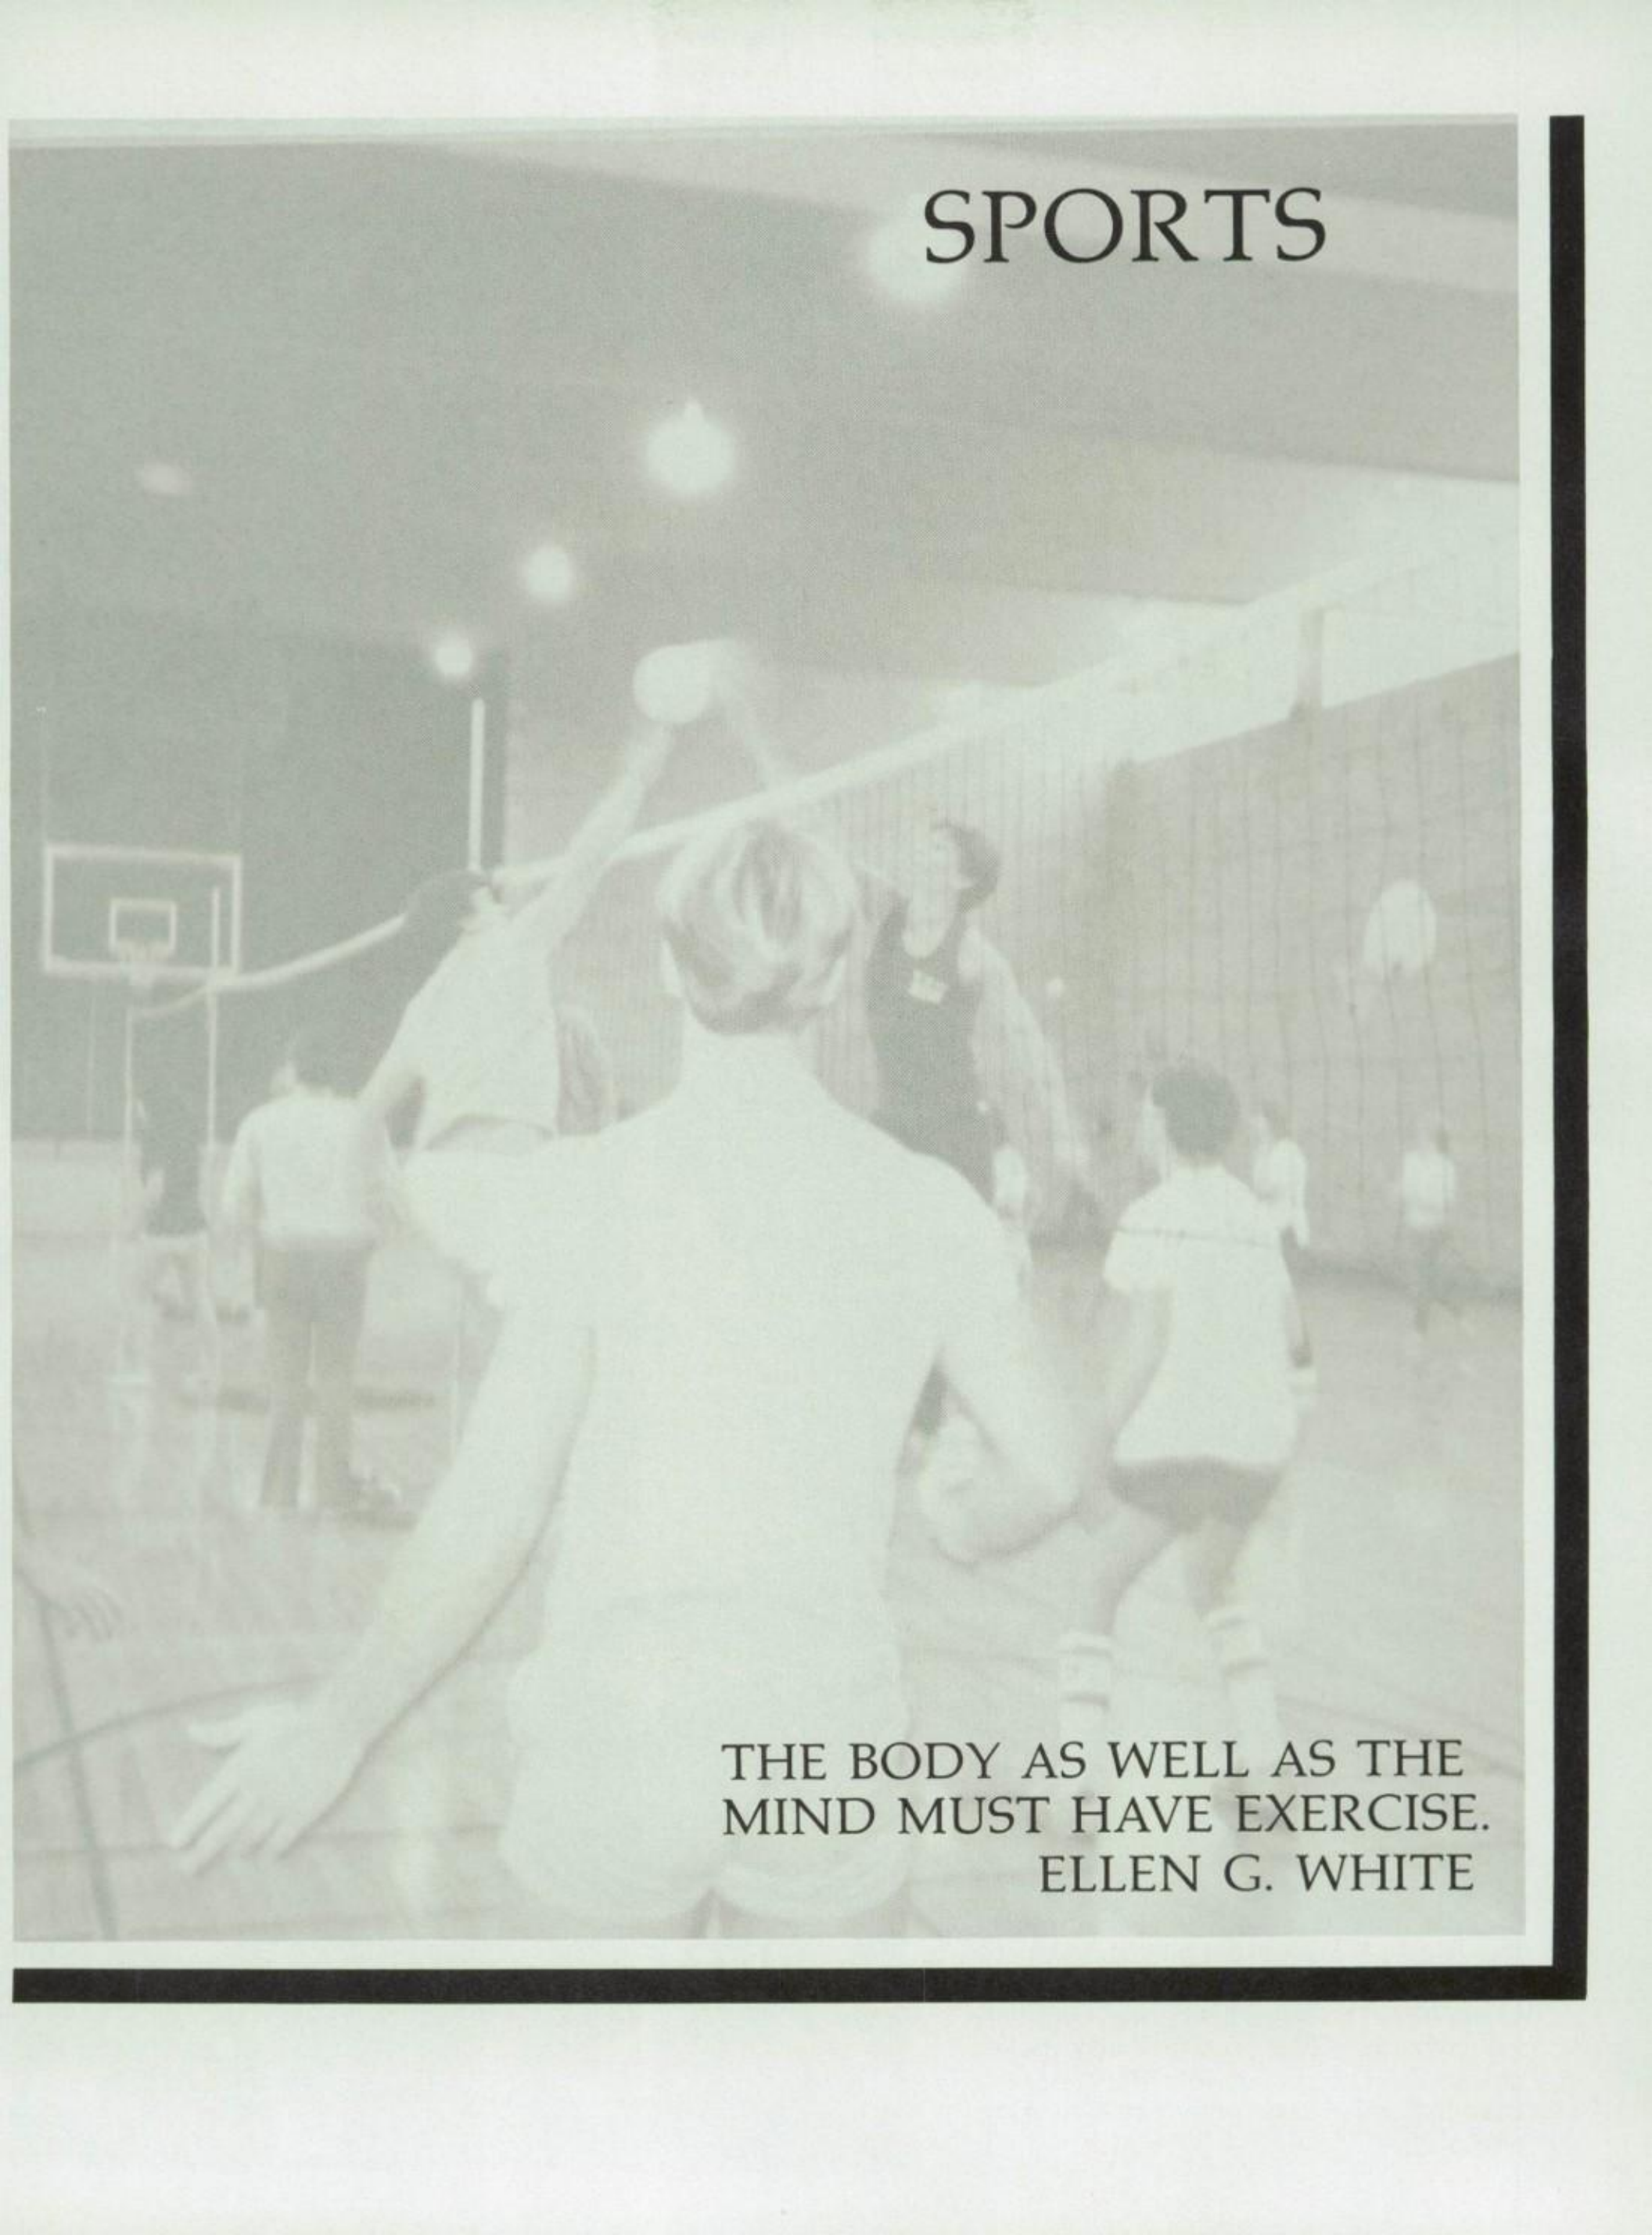

Little does Lonnie realize that he is in for a heart-rending defeat.

Steve Pegel shows his surprisingly accurate Jimmy Carter imitation.

The 1984 Football season consisted of exciting games and spectacular plays. Arias dominated the season with a squad of multi-talented players which included Peter F., Lonnie C., and Paul Dybdahl. The Kaylor team excited the crowds with long bombs to Monty. Their team also consisted of top-notch players such as Tom S., Eric O., and Craig S., The Pegel-Redman team provided amazing feats of runbacks and interceptions for touchdowns. Greg P. and Joe S. added to the thrill. Faculty did quite well considering what they had to work with. Baker shared the Q.B. duties with Hurlbert, who used 3X5 cards during the huddle to organize plays.

This year's B-league captains were Randy Croft, Lonny Harter, Chad Johnson and Mike Lefore. Croft's team went undefeated followed by Johnson with Lefore close behind. The Harter team brought up the rear with a 1-7 record for the season. As the playoffs came around, Harter's team pulled together bumping Croft out of the championship. Chad Johnson was beaten by Lefore's team and met Harter in the final game. The Mike Lefore team ended up on top as the Champions of B-league.

B-league All-Stars went three games into A-league play-offs, tying with George Arias' team and then being soundly beaten two days later as Arias came back to put them in place. A day later, Mark Kaylor's team put B-league All-Stars away for the season.

VARSITY

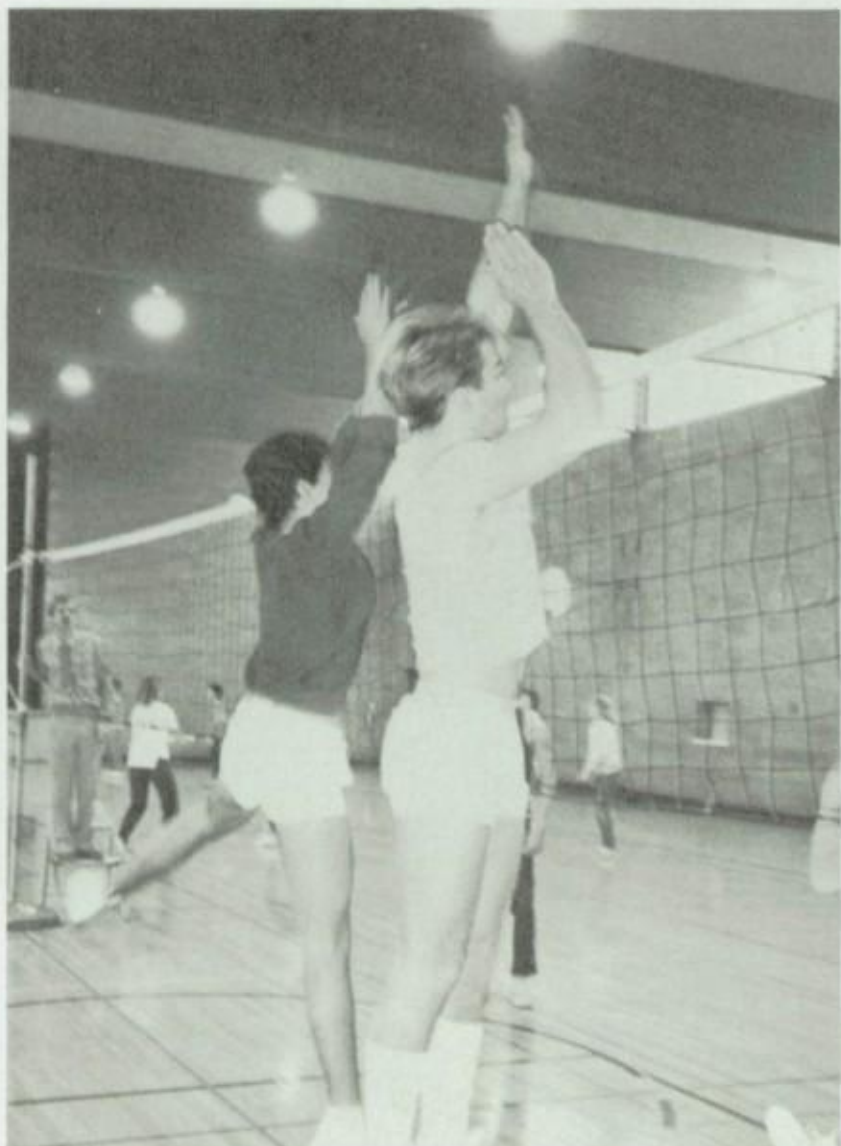

For the first time in five years the Varsity football team got off the ground again. The Varsity team, which consisted of outstanding football players, played every Thursday afternoon against different groups of Alumni players. The capstone of a great 4-2 season was played against the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Even though Varsity lost it was a great game and a building block for the Varsity teams of the future.

SKI TRIP

The annual WWVA Ski Trip was to Mt. Bachelor in Bend, Oregon this year. It was a fun filled and action packed five days of skiing and partying. The two days of skiing in fog and snow were soon forgotten on Sunday when we experienced a whole day of beautiful sunshine; what a fantastic way to end a ski trip.

SPIRITUAL

O COME,
LET US WORSHIP...

PSALMS 95:6

FALL WEEK OF PRAYER

"Meaningful . . . Exciting . . . Fun . . . Very good . . . Excellent." These are words that were frequently used to describe Walla Walla Valley Academy's Week of Prayer that featured Elder John Cress. It was a time for students to obtain new spiritual ideas, strengthen their relationship with God and to meet the new youth pastor. The theme, "Homeward Bound", was told in many different ways and illustrations, each a help in improving one's religious character.

SEMINAR TEAM

Rick Simcock, Paul Dybdahl, Joyce Soper, Jolene Boyatt, Karina Humphreys, Lynette Titus, Karlyn Bond, Heather Cuffel, Paul Grable, Cynthia Westerbeck, Mr. Boyer.

STUDENT WEEK OF PRAYER

Student Week of Prayer this year was well organized and effective. The messages brought to us were tied individually with the theme of week of prayer; Christ at WWVA. Some of the topics students presented were: having a good attitude, friends, salvation, and what Christ would be like if he were a student at WWVA. The theme song, "Up With Christ" was a new hit with many of the WWVA students. Student week of prayers make students very attentive and responsive and are more interesting because more people get involved.

CHAPEL

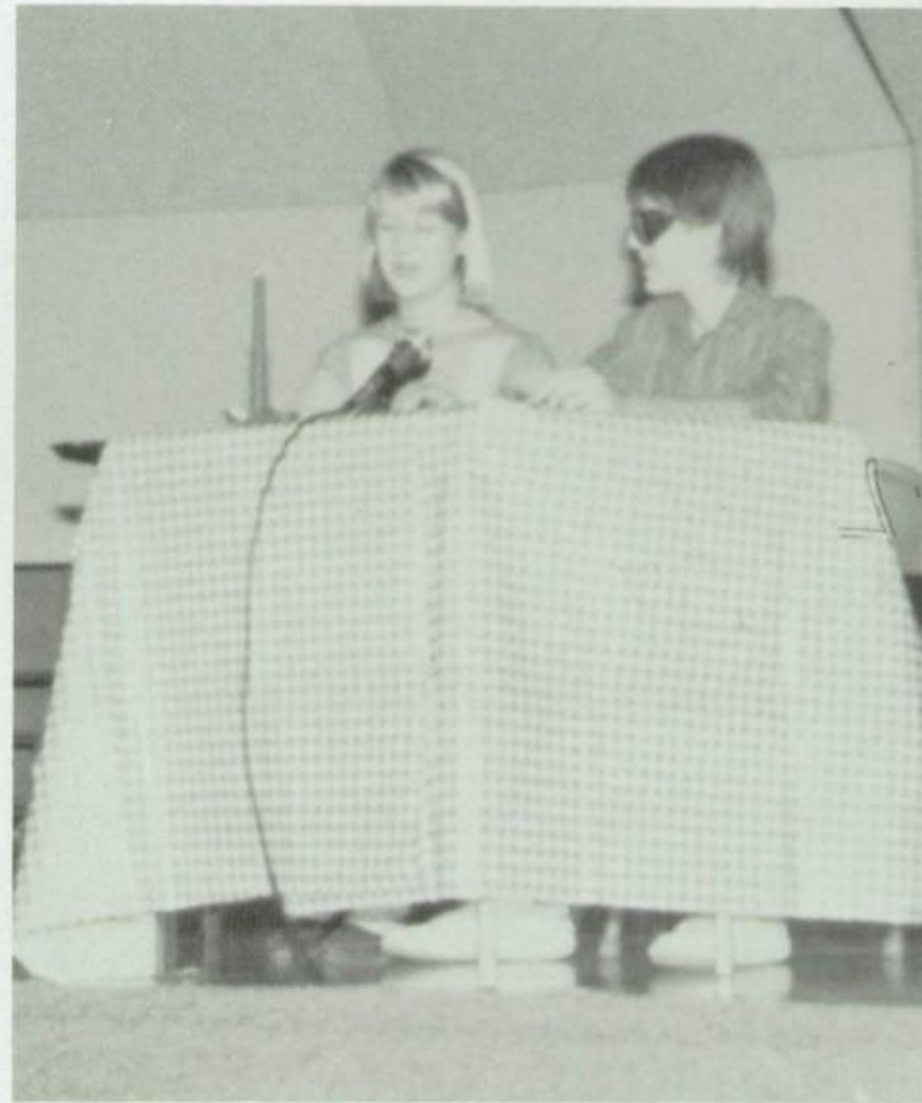

Mr. Greenley sheds some personal light on the Christian life.

Mrs. Dufur is making sure that nobody skips chapel.

Every week of the school year on Tuesdays and Thursdays, WWVAites gathered in the auditorium to participate in the WWVA chapel series. Each chapel included prayer, scripture, occasionally a special music, and a short talk done usually by one of the loved faculty members. After the talk, Mr. Hurlbert would cheerfully read the announcements. The chapels were a relaxing and meaningful time that was always looked forward to.

Announcements in the form of skits are always a source of enjoyment.

Sitting on the edge of their seats, students wonder what will happen in chapel today.

WEEKEND SERVICES

Principal or Preacher?

Speakers anxiously await their turn.

Cecil contemplates zuchinni.

Kim and Charmi know that the way to a man's heart is via his tastebuds.

The choir making a joyful noise unto the Lord.

One weekend out of every month WWVA held weekend services in our own auditorium. The services usually consisted of vespers on Friday night, church and sabbath school on Sabbath, with a pot-luck following church. Some of the featured speakers were John Cress, Joe Galusha, Ed Boyatt, and Dick Jewett. Many students helped both on the platform and with offering, special music, and teaching. Weekend services this year were well planned and well organized, and, a big success.

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The activities were a lot of fun.

September 19 found eight excited students and two sponsors leaving for Camp Mivoden in the rattly WWVA van to attend Leadership Conference. Don and Larry Veverka conducted a stimulating series of meetings through-out the week-end. There were also different focus groups to help the student leaders with their specific leadership duties and problems. The funfilled week-end was highlighted by a Peanut Festival put on by the students involved in the Social Activity focus group. Swimming, relaxing in the jacuzzi, and fellowship with the students from other schools were some of the other activities that helped make the week-end rewarding.

Laura and Nancy are engrossed in what is being said.

After a good Leadership Conference, everyone is ready to go home.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

Steve can hardly wait to arrive at the Bible Conference.

Tom Shaw reads some scripture as WWVA leads song service.

The girls rest in between meetings.

The whole bunch awaits the departure of the bus.

On the weekend of October 4-7, 28 seniors, 2 juniors, a bible teacher, a math teacher, a principal, and a big orange bus went to Mivoden for the annual Bible Conference. The theme of this year's Bible Conference was "Going for the Gold", which Pastor Dave Taylor presented in a laughable, yet touching and sincere way. In between the meeting the students joined in games and activities, lightly snoozed, or just contemplated life in general. It was a meaningful time for all. Oh, and for next years Bible Conference ... learn our school song!

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Tami sits with the children as they wait for their gifts.

Jeremy proudly sits with his partners.

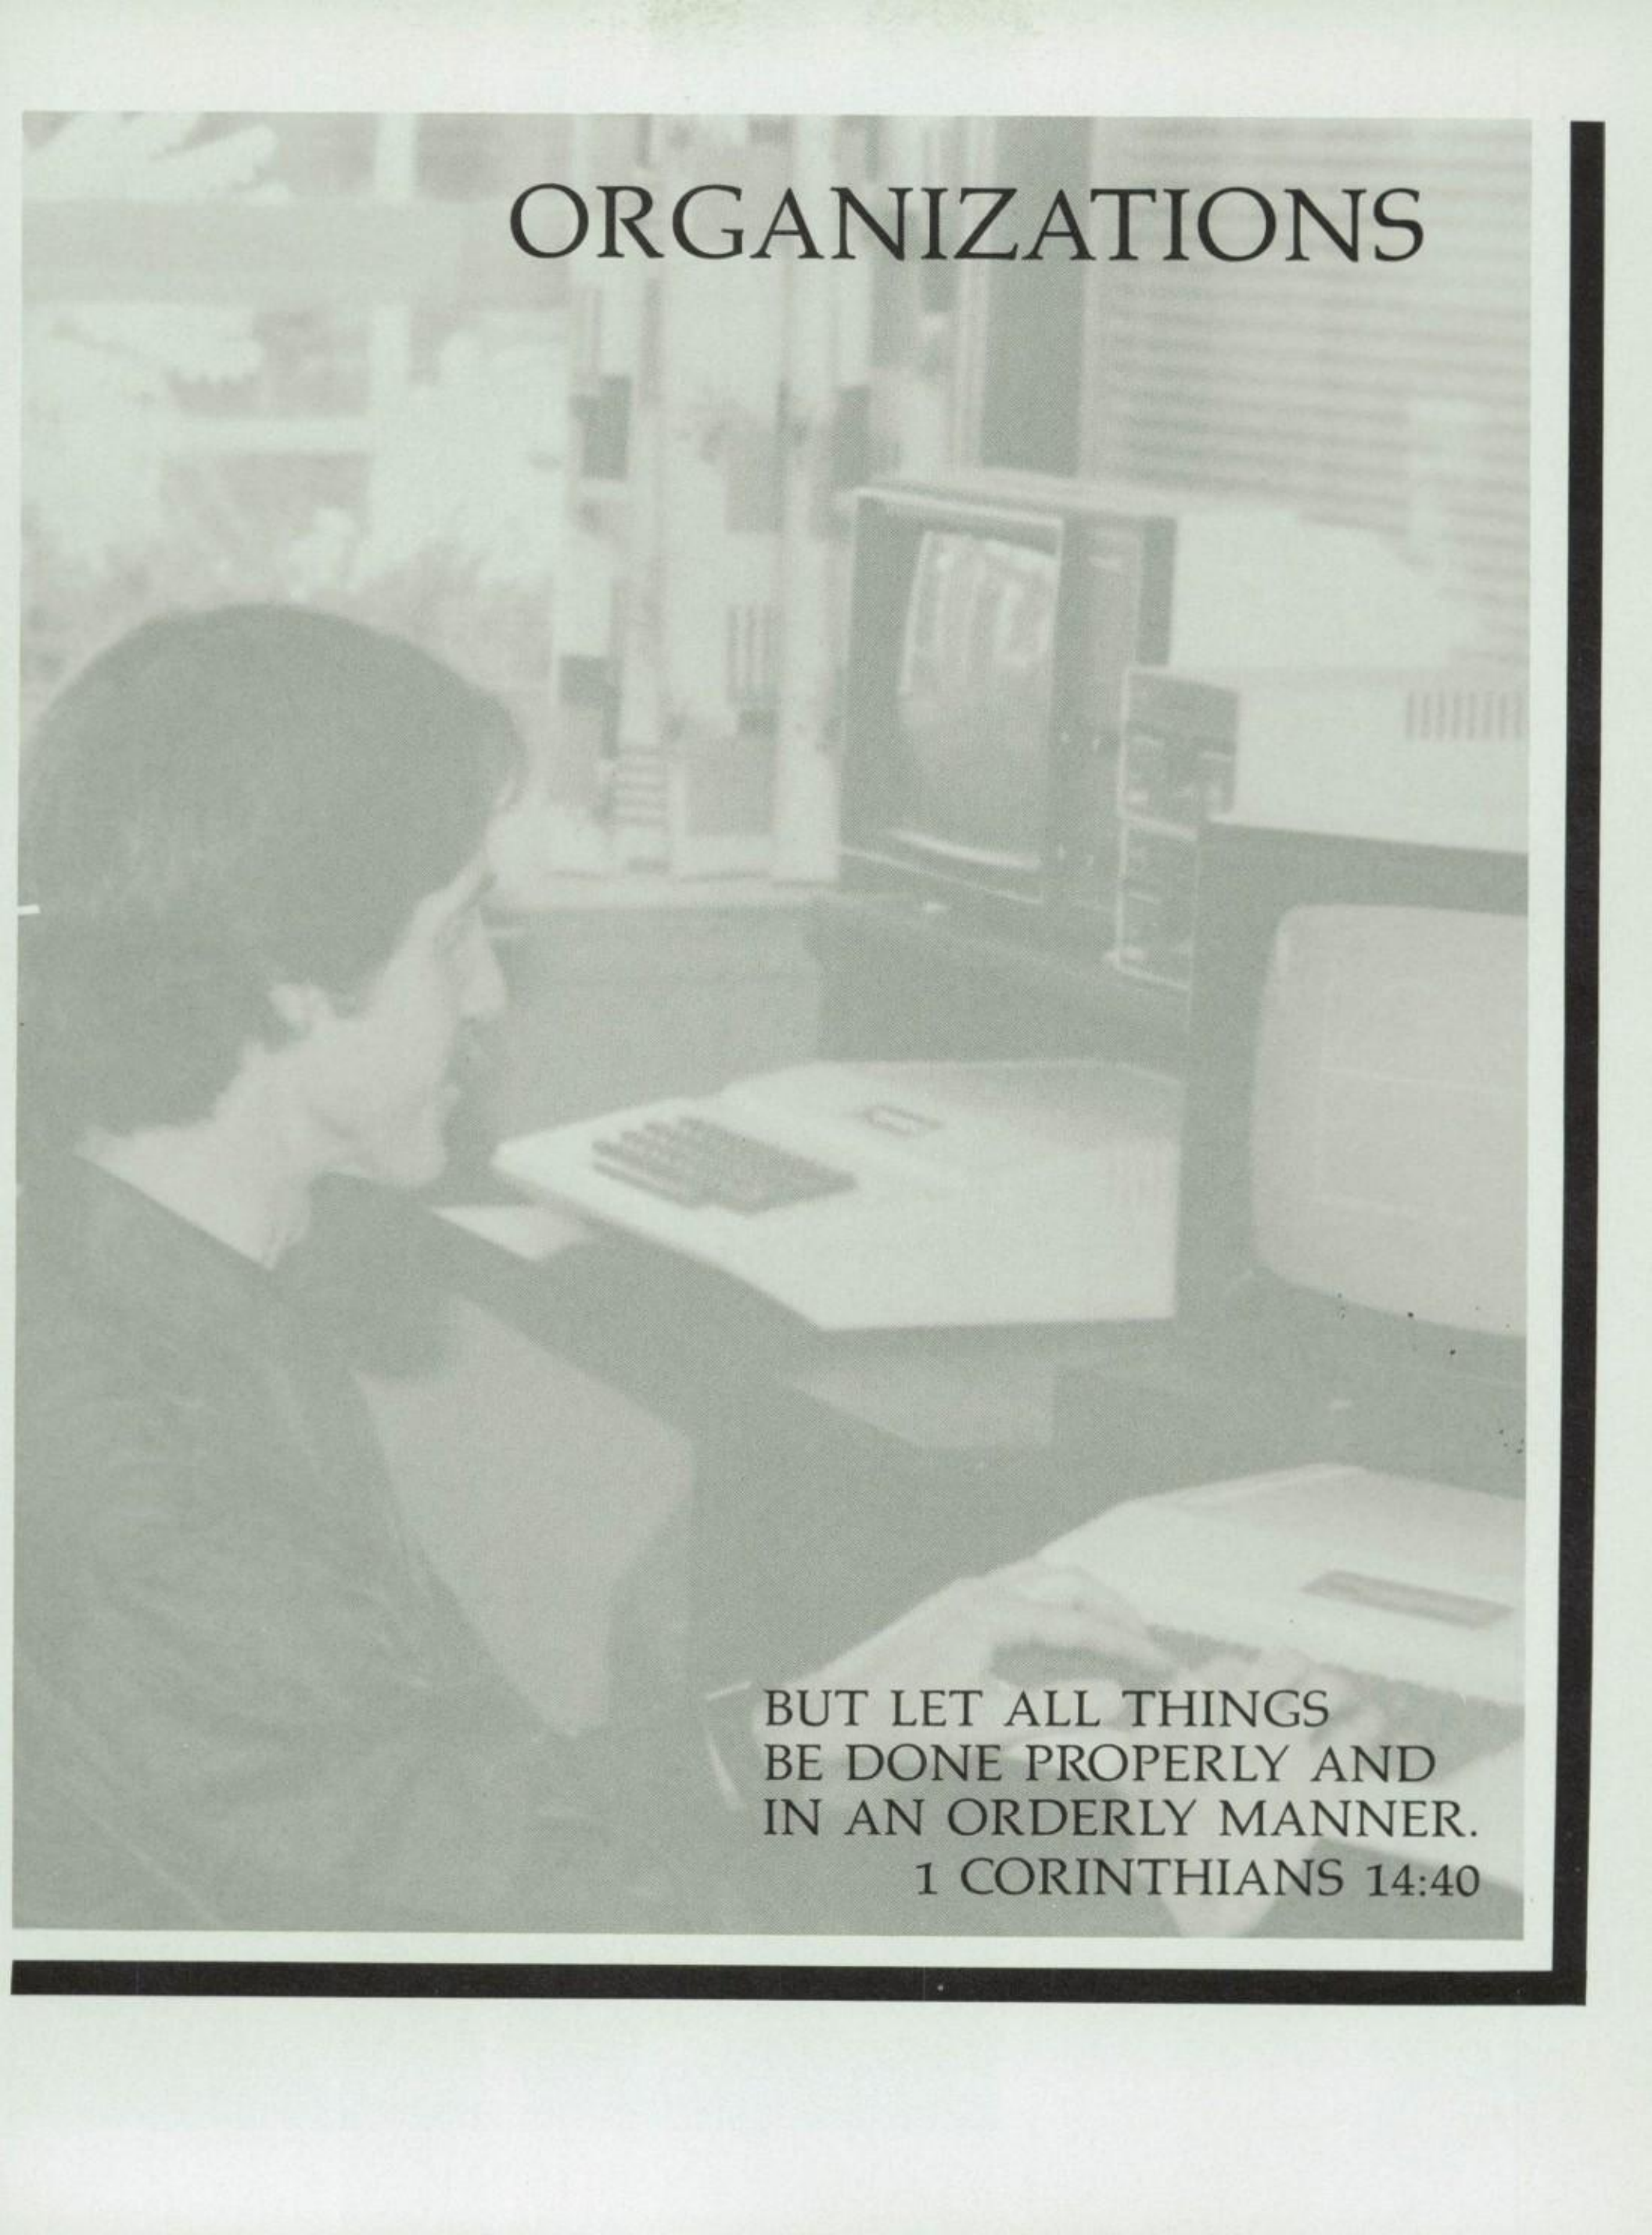

Debbie feels left out; she wants a toy too!

A party was planned by the ASB this year for children of the community. It was a Christmas party where students from WWVA grouped together to buy presents for a certain child. Then on December 10 at the party everyone played games together and Santa Claus came to pass out the presents to all of the kids. It was a real blessing to see how happy all of the children were to get things for Christmas.

A grayscale photograph of a person with dark hair, seen from the side, sitting at a desk and looking at a computer monitor. The desk is cluttered with papers, a keyboard, and other office equipment. In the background, there are shelves filled with books or files. The overall tone is professional and focused.

To my darling bride LT, the wedding will be unforgettable. Thanks for putting up with me. Then there is Mrs. Dufur, thanks for making me groom, excdpt for one thing, I will probably be the only one in the class to not get married. Also there is Mr. Colburn, Mr. Macho himself, his classes are fun and funny, take away his face and we just have fun (just kidding Colburn). Then Linda S. A good friend who has stuck by me all through my years here at WWVA, thanks. There are some bad memories at WWVA but not a whole lot. I feel the worst is TA walking down the halls singing to people, and laughing like a sick moose. But over all WWVA it was great and fun. THANKS.

BR oh I don't want her you can have her, take it easy. PF fun in Fr. Take it easy and hop you get filthy rich. TH, NL remember Mexico, what a trip. GA meet you on the beach in Hawaii. LH, PF keep up the good work at Big Y, SW. LD good job Mr. P. TA Hi how's it going. GA, NB you look marvelous. WWVA-W I love you. LW what a spoon, I'll remember all the fun parties at your house, bowling, pizza and videos. MB, BR, SP, MG, PF, TS, GA B-conf. 84 wasn't it a blast! AP let's hit the slopes sometime again. Dear Senior Class it's been awesome, we are the best, let's be true forever. Goodbye WWVA, thanks for everything.

Mike Bruns

TROY, boy what a year. We sure did have to go through alot. putting up with Adams (don't ask how we did that) getting chased by cops, twice, etc. etc. you got to admit we're survivors. TIM, no one can stop us when we hit the gut, (except our moms). at the end of every chase is a reward! COLBURN, I actually think I had fun in you class, I don't know why. I can just about put all my CW notes on one piece of paper. Someday I'm going to challenge you in Germany 1985. EJ, TP, TA, BS we make a great team in business m. GERRY, you don't know how much you helped me this year. MR. BOYER, thanks a million. I've learned more 2nd semester in your class than I've learned in the last three years of Bible classes, and that the truth. MRS. G, you helped make the senior class great, and who knows maybe I learned how to spell. MRS SURDAL, they say the principal runs the school, but I know who's the real boss.
